

Paul Humphrey

Paul's career spans over 25 years in various senior executive positions within the financial market sector.

Paul is head of FICC at Euronext, the pan-European exchange. Paul is leading the development and execution of strategy in Fixed-income, Interest Rates and Foreign Exchange markets and is a member of the Euronext Senior Management Team.

Paul was formerly at Tullett Prebon plc (Now TP ICAP plc), where he held the position of Chief Executive Officer for Electronic Broking & Information. Previously, Paul was the Global head of eCommerce for ABN Amro and a strategic management consultant to Thomson Reuters

Paul is a seasoned eCommerce professional with extensive global relationships. He has been instrumental in numerous multi-bank consortiums and start-ups. Paul has cross product experience that originates in fixed-income government and credit, then expanding to foreign exchange, multi-product derivatives and energy/commodities. He is actively involved with regulatory change across regions and determining appropriate strategy at a managerial level to compliment such change. Paul has extensive experience of the D2D and D2C markets having managed sales and distribution teams globally. This is combined with global exchange experience and a deep understanding of post trade, clearing and risk management services.

Paul's previous positions include Managing Director for Van der Moolen, Head of Fixed-income sales & eCommerce for Spear, Leeds & Kellogg (Now Goldman Sachs) and Managing Director of European Rates products for Garban PLC (Now TP ICAP plc.).